Game To Be Held To Boost Midget Hockey

What promises to be one of the highlight hockey games of the year in Coleman will be held in the arena at 8 p.m. Saturday evening, January 16th when Corson's All-Stars meet up with the well known former Coleman Canadians hockey club who will take their equipment, out of moth balls in an effort to raise funds to support midget hockey in Coleman.

According to Ed Corson, who is president of the ABC&M intermediate hockey league, the "Canadians" will now have their opportunity to show how it should be done on the ice rather than tell over a cup of coffee. He added that colors never won a game.

For the occasion the Canadians will be wearing the red, white and blue uniforms of the Coleman Grands, while the All-Stars will be sporting the green and gold of the juveniles.

It is expected that well over a thousand fans will turn out to see this game that will feature plenty of old-timers in three 20-minute periods of fast hockey.

A charge of 40c for adults, 25c for students and 15c for children should attract a terrific crowd for the Saturday night game.

Some of the players who will form the Canadians line-up are former Canadians—goal, Charlie Kanik; T. Bowman, Coleman Grands player for three years; Chick "Cyclone" Roughhead, Joe Pivius, Stu Murdoch, G. Spevak, Mark Venier, G. Lant, Bill "Flash" Fields and Tuffy Phillips.

For this occasion the Crows Nest Pass Band will be in attendance to entertain before the game and between periods.

Pensioners To Receive Theatre Pass

The Coleman Lions Club have announced this week that through arrangements with the Romy Theatre, in Coleman, free passes will be given to all old age pensioners in Coleman.

The passes will be good for any show in Coleman and can be obtained by applying at The Canadian Bank of Commerce in Coleman between January 8 and January 22 inclusive.

It is pointed out that the passes are good for any show in Coleman, but are not transferable.

Christmas Decoration Winners

Announcement was made Christmas Day that winners of the town of Coleman's prizes for the best decorated and lighted homes were:

First, Mrs. Margaret Kubica.
Second, Ferulo Dececo.

Third, Aldo Montalbetti.
J. Colwell advised the committee prior to the judging that as he had won last year he did not wish to compete in the affair.

Judges were Chief of Police Ed Corson; Town Councillor, Bert Bond, and Dr. Emil Aliello.

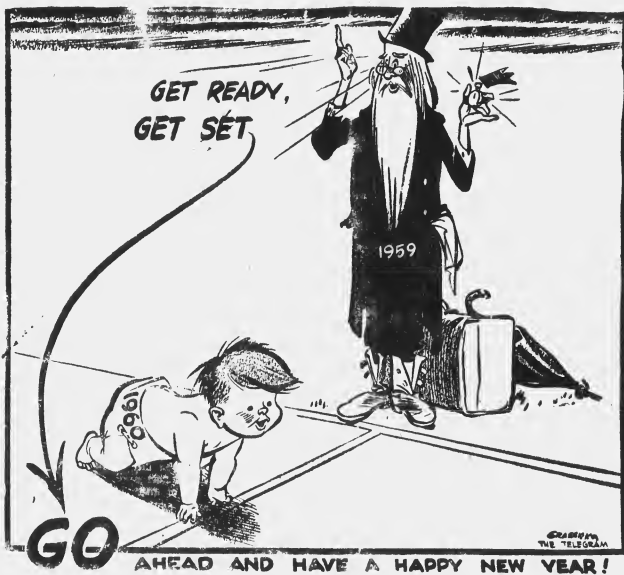

Bottle Drive By Scouts January 16

The Coleman Lions Scout and Cub Group committee are finalizing plans for a bottle drive that will be conducted in Coleman on Saturday, January 16.

The committee have requested that persons planning on giving bottles to aid the Scouts and Cubs please have the bottles ready by 9 o'clock that morning in order to save time so that the boys can fully cover the town.

It has also been asked by the committee that bottles be given to boys in Scout uniform only, as it has been reported on other occasions that some boys who were not Scouts, were participating in the drive for their own benefit.

Any parent or person who would like to assist with the sorting of bottles on Saturday, January 16th, may do so by contacting Ed Howard at the bank. Proceeds derived from the bottle campaigns are used for summer camps and for Scout work and Scout and Cub activities.

Grands Win One, Tie One At Coleman

Barry Fraser fired home three goals, including the winner, in the Coleman arena last week-end as the Grands took the second game of the week-end double-header from Great Falls Americans, 7-6, after playing to a 5-5 tie in the first game on Saturday.

Ted Kryczka and Jerry Scodellaro both had a pair for the locals who held a commanding lead of 5-1 after two periods and were ahead 7-2 with only nine minutes left in the game.

Dave Thompson scored three times for the Americans and with all three coming late in the third period drive by the Great Falls players. Singles went to Sam Williamson, Bruce Gillies and Doug Brewer.

In another game in the Coleman arena on Wednesday evening the Grands and Lethbridge Native Sons ended with a 2-2 tie after playing 10 minutes overtime.

In the first period Coleman scored at 4:20 when Scodellaro rang up one on an assist from Ted Kryczka. Lethbridge scored the next two when Bob Brooks scored one on an assist from Garth Hughes at 13:45 and another was tallied by Don Stauffer on a pass from Ken Mevin at 15:50. No goals were tallied in the second period.

At 12:45 of the third, Fritz Churila tied the game on an assist from Skip Gettman.

The game saw Coleman chalk up six penalties and Lethbridge a total of nine, with Garry Kirkpatrick being credited with four of the visitors' penalties. As a result of the game Coleman now is tied with Great Falls for third place in the ABC&M League, and Lethbridge is tied with Cranbrook Selkirk for first place.

Several Coleman players, who have been out of play due to injuries, will be back next week to add to the Grands' strength.

Firemen Hold Annual Party

The Coleman Volunteer Fire Brigade held its annual Christmas tree for members' childrens recently — when some 31 youngsters were entertained.

During the afternoon hot dogs, pop and candy were enjoyed by the children, who were also treated to a number of films, after which they played games.

Just prior to the afternoon coming to a close Old St. Nick made his appearance, loaded down with a huge sack of gifts for the youngsters.

All gathered around the Christmas tree where Santa presented each of the young people with gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Pitchford's Interesting Story of Pakistani

Of interest to the Coleman community are excerpts from tales recounted to a number of Coleman ladies by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Pitchford, who have just returned from a two-year stay in Pakistan.

Of the Pakistani people, Mr. and Mrs. Pitchford were both of the opinion that the majority of them were very poor people who live in crude bamboo huts with dirt floors. As many as 12 to 15 people are found inhabiting one room and their living conditions are very squalid.

The children of these poor people are usually very scantily clad in any type of clothing which their parents can find for them. A great many of the children do not attend school and when they reach the age of 11 or 12 they are compelled by necessity to work in any type of menial labor in order to exist.

Many families have no homes of their own and it was not an uncommon experience to find them sleeping on the sidewalks or roadways.

At any time of the day or of the night whole families could be seen trudging along the roadways with their entire belongings in bundles on their backs, usually with no homes to go to—just moving to a place where they could find enough food in order to exist for another day.

The caste system among the Moslem people has not been entirely abolished and one still finds that a "bearer" will not do the "sweepers" job nor will a dhobie do his own clean-up job after the washing has been completed even if more pay is offered.

There are the very rich classes of people (in the minority but holding all of the governmental power) and the very poor.

There seemed to be very few of the middle class although possibly the merchant class fitted this category.

There are of absolute necessity, servants in all of the European, British and American homes — also in the homes of the richer Pakistanis. Servants usually included:

Cook — who duties consisted of running the kitchen, buying the food and preparing it.

Bearer — who serves the food—sets the table, greets the guests and looked after the pressing and the mending of the family and in general administered the household. Special purchases of clothing, hardware, etc., would also be made by the bearer unless the Memshab or Madam of the household wished to do her own purchasing.

Hamal — the houseboy, who looked after the cleaning of the house, made beds, dusted, washed dishes, etc.

Sweeper — who was responsible for the cleaning of the floors and also the lavatories.

Dhobie — who did the laundry, washing and ironing.

Mail—the gardener.

The Chowkidar or night watchman—who patrolled the compound around the house from 5 p.m. until sunrise the next morning.

Houses for better class people were constructed entirely of concrete and would rent from $50.00 to $300.00 a month.

Electricity was a major expense running approximately $50.00 per month due to the continuous and necessary operating of the 54-inch ceiling fans used for cooling houses.

Flies, mosquitoes and dust were the major health menace and where possible houses were fully screened. Water came into the house via tap and had to be boiled 30 minutes, then filtered and refrigerated before drinking.

Fruits and vegetables had to be washed in cold boiled water, soaked for 30 minutes in cold boiled water to which either halazone, iodine tablets or potassium permanganate had been added, then rinsed in cold boiled water, stored for use and always cooked—never eaten raw.

The only raw vegetables a white person dared eat were those grown in one's own garden and even then precautions had to be taken.

The national dress for women was the sari—a length of material five to six yards long which was worn over a waist to ankle length petticoat and a very short chemise type top called a choli.

National dress for men was a shalwar (balloon type trousers) and a long loose fitting shirt top.

It is becoming quite a familiar sight to see Pakistani officials wearing ordinary western type business suits.

School girls of the Moslem sect generally wore a white shalwar, and over this a pale blue chemise (long fitted dress). Around their necks they wore a dupatta—a long scarf twisted around the neck or head—whichever was preferred.

Each day was a new adventure in living and what was most frustrating one day would become the subject of great hilarity the next.

The main food of the Pakistanis was chappatis and curry. Chappatis are a round pancake-like affair made of ate (brown flour) and water—shaped by hand and baked usually over a charcoal fire.

Curry would be made from almost anything available. The hot red peppers, mustard pods, garlic cloves, onions, etc., were grated into a fine powder between two stones, then added to either cut-up meat stew, stewed fish or stewed vegetables.

Knives and forks were not used for eating. The chopsticks were rolled up and used as a "scoop" to spoon up the curry.

During the hot afternoon sun, most people stayed indoors as sun stroke was an ever-present danger.

Water for poorer people was a premium commodity. Clothes would be washed in any pool of water available and drinking water was purchased from a water carrier (a man who carried a goatskin full of water on his back) for approximately 5c to 8c a quart.

Milk was not pasteurized and was not generally used by any people except the Pakistanis. Powdered milk from Denmark or the United States was the only milk the Pitchfords used in their home.

The Moslems prohibit the eating of pork. Therefore, pork could not be purchased unless imported into the country.

The Pakistanis are a very unscrupulous people and every item to be purchased had to be bargained for as a Pakistani merchant's first price was generally three to five times the price of the item.

The Pakistanis are very skillful craftsmen and make beautiful items such as tables, stools, etc., from woe 1 inlaid with ivory, brass or silver. Jewellery is almost all hand-made and beautiful silver filigree necklaces, bracelets, ear-rings, etc., can be purchased at a very moderate cost.

The brass work too is impressive and the embroidery (usually done by men and boys) is excellent. Carpets are made by hand by men but are very expensive.

Mr. and Mrs. Pitchford both agree that they have had a very wonderful experience — one which they would not trade — but also one that they would not particularly care to repeat.

Corson's All-Stars vs. Canadians January 16

Plans are progressing favorably for the game of the year in Coleman when the Coleman Canadians hockey team will meet the Corson All-Stars in an exhibition game arranged to raise funds for midget hockey in Coleman.

Mayor Frank Abousaffy has consented to drop the puck for the game which has much promise of being packed with fast action.

Two more players have been signed up for the Canadian team and being former players, will add to the action in the game. The new players are George "Shorty" Jenkins, a former Canadian player, who has been refereeing for the past few seasons, and is reported to be in top shape. "Pep" Oliva of Pep's Coffee Shop will also add to the Canadian strength, while two of the figures who will appear on Corson's All-Stars will be the Rev. Denis Fleming of the Holy Ghost Catholic Church and Rev. Rod McAlulay of St. Paul's United Church in Coleman.

Another All-Star player will be plumber Joe Began, a six-foot-three defenceman, who will show how it is done.

The game has been set for 8 o'clock Saturday night, January 16, and according to reports the arena will be packed to see these two teams go all-out to support small league hockey in Coleman.

To make the evening more enjoyable, President of the Crows Nest Pass Band, Frank Lamey, has stated the band will be in attendance to entertain before the game and between the three 20-minute periods.

Poppy Fund Welfare Report

The Poppy Fund Welfare of the Coleman Legion, makes the following report on the disbursements of its Welfare Fund for the year 1959.

They would like to point out that this fund gets very close to the actual disbursement ex-service man and his dependents.

Now that the Salvation Army has moved away from Coleman, there is more call for help, and while this fund is supposed to be for ex-service men and dependents, in many cases this point is overlooked.

Meals given were 36.
Room and bed, 30.
Welfare, helping the stranded on their way, $11.

Local hospital patients, 56 packets of cigarettes.
Local hospital patients, pop and fruit, $2.53.

Local donations, hospital bills, fire victims campaign, etc., $98.35.
Two Greyhound Bus tickets, $4.15.
Flowers, funerals of ex-service men, $20.75.

Pythian Sisters Hold Party For Children

The Coleman Pythian Sisters and Past Chiefs Club held its annual Christmas party in the Oddfellows hall shortly before Christmas when many of the parents attended the affair held for the children of the members.

During the party the young people enjoyed an afternoon of singing and games and accordion solos after which the ladies served the young people lunch.

Following lunch Santa made his appearance in the hall and with the assistance of Mrs. Evelyn Hopkins of the Past Chiefs' Association presented the young people with bags of candy and oranges, while Mrs. Helen Hopkins, on behalf of the Pythian Sisters, presented each child with a new fifty-cent piece. Santa was also called upon, and was presented with a gift by Mrs. Evelyn Hopkins.

The draw for the Christmas Cake was made and was won by Maria Tymoshaw with ticket No 161.

The double-barred cross which appears on the Christmas Seals sold by tuberculosis associations is the world-wide emblem of the workers who fight TB. It was adopted at an international meeting of Tuberculosis workers in 1904.

Of Many Things (By Ambrose Hills)

WELCOME TO 1960

In spite of all the gloomy forecasts, Canada goes into the year 1960 in pretty fine shape.

Inflation has been held in check in recent months, due in large measure to the courage of the government (maybe it is the Christmas spirit that makes me finally say a good word for the politicians), and the good sense of Canadians generally in accepting unpopular decisions without too much fuss.

Labor, too, has shown somewhat more restraint and good sense over the past four or five months. Most workers are of the opinion that it is better to hold the line and consolidate Canadian gains now than to go romping off on a fake boom that could price us right out of competitive overseas markets, and thus create unemployment.

This sensible sentiment in Canada gets something of a set-back, however, when American-owned concerns apply their native wage rates to the Canadian scene.

An example is the International Paper Company, which applied wage rate increases in their home plants to their big operations here.

Wonderful for their Canadian employees, perhaps, but sure to cause discontent and new wage demands throughout the Canadian paper industry — where prices are already high enough.

Acts of this nature, by American-owned companies operating in Canada, can have serious results for Canadian consumers, — especially when price-setting industries are involved.

In spite of these complications, Canadians have ridden through a very dangerous period in this nation's economic life. Labor and management both deserve credit, and some must also go to various governments.

By next autumn, if all hands remain steady on the oars, it is altogether likely that International trade will find this country a strong competitor.

If increased productivity can be achieved, there could then be a series of increased wage without a corresponding increase in the cost-of-living index, and after all, that is the only kind of wage increase that does any good.

In other words, things look reasonably good for 1960 and we can mean it sincerely when we say — "Happy New Year to All!"

Of Many Things (By Ambrose Hills)

CBC and TALENT

Some time ago a well known TV personality charged that wherever CBC money was going, it certainly wasn't going to the performers.

I began to take a very close look at CBC Financial Reports and found it hard to discover just what was happening. Administrative costs were up, salaries were up, everything seemed to be up a lot — the Press and Information Service kept increasing its expenses tremendously. But talent costs were almost static.

So I wrote to CBC for information.

It was a long time coming, but they have sent part of it to me now. In 1958-59 they paid a total of $12,546,581 in performers' fees and they included scripts, performing rights, music and musical arrangements. They did point out that a producers' strike in Montreal had reduced payments by about a million dollars; but even then, the sum paid to performers seems to have stood fairly still.

When the Federal parliament is in session again, the committee on broadcasting ought to dig into this matter. I am not suggesting that not enough is spent on talent, I am suggesting that of the total spent talent does not get its share.

Programs, as shown on CBC's financial report, cost $47 millions plus — and yet less than 13 million of that goes to talent! Where on earth did the other $33 million go? Why should a show cost three times what the actual payments to performers amount to? Surely this is a situation that demands some pretty detailed answers!

Perhaps all this will get answered when the next parliamentary committee goes into action. Perhaps, too, the committee will inquire into the expenditures to performers in cities like Regina, Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton.

There is a lot of talk these days about developing Canadian talent on radio and television. Surely there should be some understanding of why talent costs are so low compared to other CBC expenditures.

CBC did not give me the information I asked for about the expenditures of CBC's Press and Information Department in direct advertising. I feel sure that here, too, it is far too small a percentage of much too large a sum.

Another matter that should be studied is the treatment of CBC's finest newscaster, Larry Henderson.

His lectures, giving some truths about the failures of Communism in Russia are receiving nation-wide acclaim. He was at the peak of his popularity. Why did CBC suddenly insist that he be a staff announcer or be banished?

Motors Reminded How To Survive Year-end Festivities

Ottawa, Ont. — Do you want to outlive this year? Well, then, you should drive as though you were making a bid for the title of "Best Driver of the Year."

This advice is given all Canadian motorists by W. Arch Bryce, executive director of the Canadian Highway Safety Council which has spearheaded Safe Driving Week.

Here are some of the specific recommendations Mr. Bryce issues to drivers at this time of year:

1—Be sure your car is in good running condition and ready for winter.

2—Don't let your year-end festivities endanger your own life or the lives of your friends. Whenever you drive, stick to coffee and other non-alcoholic stimulants.

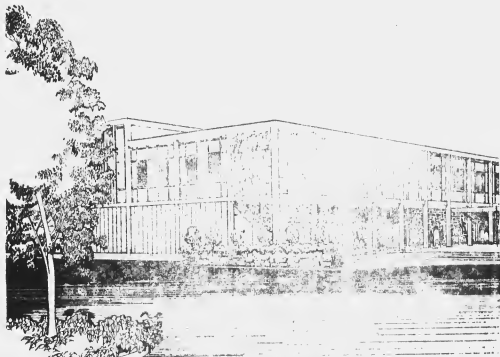

3—Leave earlier to get there on time and drive slowly. Allow yourself plenty of time to come to a stop.

Avoid skidding by pumping your brakes.

4—Don't drive during a snow or sleet storm. If you do, you may never reach your destination.

5—When a considerate hostess offers you a cup of coffee at the end of an evening, accept it gratefully. It will help you to keep alert on the way home.

Mr. Bryce also warned pedestrians against distractions of all sorts. "The simplest of all rules is to always cross with the green light and always at intersections," he said.

New 2 Storey $500,000 Aquarium Being Constructed in Calgary

Construction has started on a $500,000 aquarium and related equipment which is being built by the Calgary Brewing and Malting Company Ltd. at the company's plant in East Calgary. The aquarium will be one of the largest in North America.

President of Calgary Brewing and Malting, J. B. Cross, said the aquarium is the first stage in a plan which in later years will include construction of a large, western-themed museum adjoining the aquarium.

"Both the museum and the aquarium are planned to provide Albertans with an interesting and educational visiting place, and as attractions which will be of interest to tourists," Mr. Cross said.

The two-storey reinforced concrete and steel building—110 by 65 feet in area—was designed by J. Stevenson and Associates and is being constructed by Poole Construction Co. Ltd. Basement will house mechanical equipment, while the main floor will contain 40 small tanks for tropical fish, 24 tanks for larger species of fresh and salt water fish, and a pit for alligators and other reptile exhibits. The aquarium will be open to the public by next August, Mr. Cross said. It will adjoin the present fish hatchery building, but will in no way affect the trout-rearing operation now being carried on there. Rather, the new project will be complementary to the fish hatchery and the beautiful rockeries and fish ponds which are attractions of the Brewery gardens.

The second floor of the new aquarium will be used to display Western historical exhibits until the museum adjoining the aquarium is constructed. The museum is tentatively planned as a two-storey circular structure, 120 feet in diameter which will be joined to the aquarium at ground level by an open patio and by a cross-walk at the second story.

Museum material has been collected by the Brewery for several years and research is continuing so that on completion, the museum will reflect the history of the Western foreman from the days of Cortez to the present. Lifelike models, including those of such famous westerners as Chief Crowfoot, Ed Macleod, Pete Knight, John Wayne, and portrayals of specific historic incidents in Alberta are planned.

You'll certainly drive a long way before you find one of T.C.A.'s new DCS's at an Imperial Esso service station. But they're important Imperial customers just the same.

The Jet and the family car—together they mean lower gasoline prices

The new DCS jets are powered by a special Imperial jet fuel, as carefully tailored for its job as the gasoline for your car.

Today gasolines and jet fuels are only two types of a whole range of products—over 600 of them—made by Imperial from petroleum.

This efficiency in getting everything out of every gallon of crude oil is an important reason for lower fuel prices—whether for a DCS, a jalopy or the new family car.

Gasoline is a bargain: in the last five years the average price of things people buy has gone up nearly 16 per cent, while gasoline has actually gone down about half of one per cent.

Hospital Staff and Employees To Get Wage Boost

The Board of the Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital held a special meeting last week to review salaries and wages of nursing and all other staff at the hospital.

As a result of their studies registered nurses at the hospital will receive an increase of $5.00 per month, bringing the nurses' minimum salary to the sum of $270.00 a month, which is in keeping with the recommendations of the Association of Hospitals of Alberta.

In addition to the increase the nurses will also enjoy a 40-hour week, rather than the former 44 hours.

This is also in keeping with the recommendations of the Hospital's Association and the Alberta Association of Registered Nurses.

Certified aides will also receive an increase of $5.00 per month, bringing their salaries to a minimum of $170.00 per month. They, too, will enjoy a 40-hour week.

All other staff in the hospital, including dietary staff, laundry, boiler room personnel, drivers, office staff and housekeeping staff, will also enjoy a 40-hour week.

All of the above benefits will begin on January 1st, 1960.

Nurses at the hospital receive an increase of $5.00 every six months up to three years which brings their salaries up to a maximum of $300.00 per month after three years service.

Certified aides also receive $5 increments every six months up to two years, making their earnings at the end of the two years service a maximum of $190.00 per month.

Interesting to note is the progress in salary that the hospital has made in its nurses' salaries for when the hospital opened in 1949, minimum salaries for registered nurses began at $147.00 per month and a work week comprised 48 hours.

In 1952 nurses' working hours were reduced to the 44-hour week.

Since the hospital opened in April, 1949, a total of $921,000.00—almost one million dollars, has been paid out in salaries at the hospital.

Comparing figures during the nine month period the hospital operated in 1949 (April to January) a total of $48,052.26 was paid out in salaries in comparison with a 12-month period in 1958 which showed total salaries at $110,983.00.

Willow Valley Trophy Judging Day Set For January 9th

The Willow Valley Trophy Club have announced this week that the tenth annual Big Game Judging Day will be held in the Lundbreck Community Hall January 9, 1960.

Trophies for big game heads will be awarded to those who show the largest heads in sheep, goat, elk, moose and deer according to Boone and Crockett scoring sheets.

The committee have pointed out that old heads, regardless of the date they were killed or by whom they were killed, are eligible for the Grand Champion trophy in sheep, elk, deer, goat and moose. To be eligible for any trophies except the grand champion a sportsman must have become a member of the club on or before the big game season opens.

For Grand Champion trophy interested parties may join at any time prior to the judging of the head.

This year the club announces a new trophy "The Ed and Babe Trophy" donated by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Burton of Claresholm, which will be given for the nearest big game exhibit to the Boone and Crockett record regardless of whether it be elk, moose, deer, sheep, goat, bear or cougar. The club feels this trophy will create considerable interest among sportsmen.

Big game pick-up stations have been arranged for at Wilham's Garage, Lundbreck; the Cowley Co-op Store, McNab and Cleland International dealers at Pincher Creek; Jerry's Sport Shop, Bellevue; Rudy's Sport Shop, Coleman; and R. E. Quick at Fort Macleod.

Hunters living within a 25-mile radius of these pick-up stations must leave their game heads at these stations not later than 12:00 noon on Tuesday, January 9th otherwise they can not be accepted, with the exception to any mounted head or in the process of being mounted or any head outside of the 25 mile radius of the pick-up stations. These heads must be in Lundbreck hall by 12:00 noon on judging day. This rule has been passed by the club because it is impossible to score these heads on the day of judging as increasing numbers are being entered each year.

A new regulation of the Boone and Crockett Club is that a fee of $3.00 per entry be paid to the Boone and Crockett Club and any member wishing their entry to be forwarded to Boone and Crockett must state this and enclose their three dollars.

The club have also announced that the fish awards will be presented at the affair. All sportsmen that are holding Willow Valley trophies for big game are requested to return these on or before judging day January 9th.

During the afternoon a lunch will be served and entertainment is being planned for. A small fee of 25c is being charged to offset the lunch costs. Sportsmen planning on entries must have a tag and name and address of the owner clearly marked and attached.

unit in that the complete unit has its own tube, stand, generator and photo camera section. The main purpose basically is to routinely X-ray patients being admitted to hospital.

When the X-ray is taken the film is sent to the Baker Memorial for processing and checking purposes. This excellent service is free to in-patients at the hospital and for out-patients a small fee of 50c is charged to cover cost of mailing and film charge.

In-patients are those who are patients in the hospital.

Today nothing seems to succeed like the appearance of success.

Coleman Firemen Aid Muscular Dystrophy Fund

Coleman firemen report this week that the cannister set up at the Kananaskis Service Station in Coleman was filled to capacity last week and is one of the only cannisters ever reported to have been completely filled.

The cannister was turned over to the brigade last week by garage-man Harold Nelson, who reports that a total of $18.10 was contained in the cannister.

The brigade have already sent the sum of $130.10 to campaign headquarters and Chief Henry Zak, Jr., stated that the brigade had an objective of $200.

The cannisters will be left in Coleman stores until January 21st. The firemen held a tag day in Coleman recently to boost the campaign for funds.

Anglicans Establish "Primate's World Relief Fund"

Toronto, Ont. — Most Rev. Howard H. Clark, Primate of the Anglican Church of Canada, this week announced the inauguration within the Church of a continuing fund for world relief.

The action, approved by General Synod, will enable the Church to respond quickly when financial aid is needed in times of emergency at home and abroad. The Fund, to be known as the Primate's World Relief Fund, is now open for contributions, and there will be a national appeal on its behalf on Sexaginta Sunday, next February 21.

In a letter to all clergy of the Church throughout Canada, Archbishop Clark said that of the amount to be raised, at least $100,000 will be contributed to the World Refugee Year program sponsored by the United Nations and supported by the World Council of Churches. By this means the Anglican Church of Canada hopes to increase substantially its support of the program of Inter-Church Aid and Service to Refugees of the World Council.

Archbishop Clark said that contributions to the Fund are to be made through parish churches and amounts collected are to be forwarded through diocesan synod offices to the Fund's headquarters in Toronto.

He said that action will be taken at once to make Anglicans fully acquainted with current world relief needs and especially the very grave plight of refugees in Europe and Asia.

Preventive Dental Health Program

A preventive dental health program for pre-school and school age children will go into effect in Alberta in 1960.

The plan, first of its kind in North America, provides for travelling dental clinics to be attached gradually to the province's 22 health units. Initially the clinics will be organized in areas where the need for dental care is greatest.

The over-all program also provides for the training of a new group of health personnel. Commencing with the 1960 fall term, the University of Alberta Faculty of Dentistry will offer a two-year course to train young men and women as Registered Dental Auxiliaries. The course will be open to high school graduates. On graduation they will be qualified to assist dentists in preventive dental care programs carried out in the various health units in Alberta.

The Alberta Dental Association is co-operating with the Alberta Department of Public Health and the University of Alberta in the operation of the plan. Members of the association have agreed to spend a two-week period each year at one of the portable clinics in an operative and supervisory capacity.

The practising dentists will undertake all preliminary and major operations at these new dental clinics including examination of children, treatment and care analysis, extractions and preparations of a tooth cavity for filling. The dental auxiliaries will perform such duties as recording dental needs, insertion of filler material in cavities, cleaning teeth, application of dental fluorides and general dental health education.

Arrangements are presently being made to have students in their third and final year of study at the Faculty of Dentistry, University of Alberta, assist dentists in the program until graduates of the new two year course fill all positions.

The portable clinics of up to four dental units will be moved from community to community within a health unit. The prevention and education program will incorporate children between the ages of three years and ten or twelve years.

It is also planned to have the dental facilities and services of the dentist available to adults during evenings and possibly week-ends. A charge directly to the patient would be made for any adult services.

Financial assistance through the province's Queen Elizabeth Scholarship Fund will be available to Albertans wishing to enroll in the two-year course. Provision is also made for special credits for any Registered Dental Auxiliaries who, after completing minimum of three years of field work, wish to continue their university education toward a degree in dentistry.

Sixty per cent of the cost of the dental program will be borne by the provincial government while participating municipalities will share 40 per cent of the cost under the Health Unit Program.
